INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS

What is Interest-Free Status?

Interest-free status means that if you are currently enrolled in full-time studies and you have previous full-time student loans, you do not have to start repaying your previous loan(s) during your current study period. The Government of Canada and/or the Province of Ontario will pay the interest on your loan(s) on your behalf. Once you complete your studies, your Canada Student Loans will begin to accrue interest. On the first day of the 7th month after the end of your last study period, your Ontario Student Loans will collect interest. During the 7th month after the end of your study period, you will be required to start repaying your loans in accordance with the National Student Loans Service Centre's repayment arrangement.

How do I qualify?

You must have negotiated student loans prior to your current academic year, you must be a qualifying student, you must not have defaulted on any previous student loans, and you must submit the required form by the deadline date set out below.

You are a qualifying student if you are enrolled either:

- in a program of study that leads to degree, diploma or certificate at an approved postsecondary school taking at least the minimum required course load, or
- at a secondary school within the meaning of the Education Act taking at least the minimum required course load, or
- in an academic upgrading program at an Ontario college or university taking at least the minimum required course load, or
- at a Private Career College in Ontario taking at least the minimum required course load provided that the school is registered and the program is approved by the Superintendent of Private Career Colleges under the authority of the Private Career Colleges Act, 2005.

The minimum required course load is 60 per cent of what the school considers to be a full course load for the period of study in question or 40 per cent of what the school considers to be a full course load in the case of a student with a disability.

Students participating in practical training required for acceptance in a professional corporation or for the practice of a trade or profession (e.g., medical internship/residency, dietetic internship, internships for other professions, apprenticeship programs, articling) or in post-doctoral programs are not eligible for interest-free status.

Students in some practical training programs (not including medical internship/residency, dietetic internship or articling) may qualify for continuation of interest-free status under review. If you are in a program with a practical training component and would like to be considered for interest-free status you must attach to your form a letter from your school with the following information:

- confirm how many hours you spend in class and how many hours in practical training,
- confirm rate of pay or that your practical training is unpaid, and
- confirm whether your practical training/formal instruction is required for you to receive your degree, diploma or certificate.

How do I apply?

- If you currently are enrolled on a full-time basis and you are not receiving OSAP for your current study period, you and your school must complete this form and submit it to the ministry.
- If you currently are enrolled on a full-time basis and you are receiving OSAP for your current study period, your enrolment will be confirmed through other processes. If you are studying outside of Ontario, you must complete the Confirmation of Enrolment form that will be provided to you by the ministry, and submit this form to your financial aid office when you begin classes.

The information provided by you and your school will be used to notify the National Student Loans Service Centre (NSLSC) and/or any financial institution(s) holding your previous student loan(s) that you are still in school and that your previous full-time loans are to be placed into interest-free status.

When do I apply?

- Submit your form during your current study period and no later than 6 months after your last study period end date. For example, if you are in studies on October 15, 2011 and your last study period end date was April 30, 2011, then you must submit this form no later than October 31, 2011. If you submit your form after this deadline, but before the end of your current study period, your eligibility for and the duration of your interest-free period may be affected.
 - For Ontario Student Loans: You may be eligible for interest-free status for your entire study period.
 - For Canada Student Loans: Your interest-free period will begin on the date your form is processed. You will have to pay the interest that accrued on your loans from the start of your current study period to the date your form is processed.
- Forms submitted during the last 13 days of your current study period may not be accepted. Forms submitted after the end of your current study period will not be accepted. Please check with the financial aid office at your school for further details.

Important information for students attending schools outside of Ontario

To be considered for continuation of interest-free status, your school and campus must be approved for OSAP purposes. You should use the school search page on the OSAP website to find out whether your school is approved for OSAP funding.

If your school is not approved, you may submit the Institution & Program Approval Application, which is posted on the OSAP website. This form should be submitted as early as possible, but no later than 12 weeks prior to your current study period end date to be considered for interest-free status during your current study period. Delays with submitting this form may result in receiving only a partial benefit or losing your eligibility for interest-free status. Only fully completed forms will be considered.

Where do I submit my form?

- If you are attending a postsecondary school in Ontario, submit the completed form to the financial aid office at your postsecondary school.
- If you are attending a postsecondary school outside Ontario or a secondary school, the completed form must be received by the Ministry no later than the deadline dates set out above. Send the form to the following address: Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities, PO Box 4500, Thunder Bay, ON P7B 6G9.
- Misdirected forms will not be backdated.

What if I change my status?

If you withdraw from studies or if you reduce your course load to less than 60 per cent of a full course load (or 40 per cent if you are a student with a permanent disability), you must notify your financial aid office immediately so that your study period end date can be adjusted. These changes will mean that you will have to start repaying your loans.

What are my legal obligations?

- The Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities Act and its Regulations set out the legal rights and obligations of a student in respect on Ontario Student Loans. The Canada Student Financial Assistance Act and Regulations and the Canada Student Loans Act and Regulations set out the legal rights and obligations of a student in respect of Canada Student Loans. The Acts and Regulations prevail in the case of uncertainty or dispute. You must notify your financial aid office immediately if there is any change in your class attendance, course load, or program of study so that your period of study end can be adjusted. If you are a student studying outside of Ontario or a secondary school student, you must provide written notification of any change to the ministry.
- A change in your period of study end may accelerate the date on which you will be required to begin repayment of your student loan(s). A change in your status and/or period of study end may affect your eligibility and the type and amount of assistance that you are entitled to receive. You must promptly notify the ministry, the NSLSC, and any financial institution(s) holding your previous student loan(s), in writing, of any change in your name or address. You can change your address on the OSAP website, at <http://osap.gov.on.ca>, and on the NSLSC website at <http://www.canlearn.ca>.
- Within six months of ceasing to be a full-time student, you must contact the NSLSC, and/or any financial institution(s) holding your student loan(s) to consolidate your loans. Your Consolidation Agreement(s) will set out the repayment terms.
