

What is prior learning assessment and recognition?

Prior learning assessment and recognition (PLAR) is an academic credit option for learners with significant learning/life experience that may be equivalent to a college/university course credit. It involves the assessment and evaluation of acquired relevant knowledge and skills that match at least 80 per cent of the learning outcomes of a Georgian College course. You may have gained college-level knowledge and skills through learning or life experiences such as:

- work experience
- community involvement
- activities within professional associations
- volunteer experience
- self-directed study
- non-credit courses

For an evaluation, program coordinators or academic designate may ask you to provide evidence of your experiences such as:

- portfolio of experiences
- course/workshop outlines and syllabi
- job descriptions outlining duties and activities
- letter from previous/current employer(s)
- have been or are employed in the requested field of study within the past two years
- formal credentials (certification, accreditation, license, etc.)
- oral/written/practical challenge examination

It is recommended that requests for PLAR assessment be made two months (60 days) prior to the start date of the course for which you are requesting a PLAR exemption. PLAR requests submitted after the start date of the course may not be accepted. Submissions made after the start day of the course/semester will be considered on an individual basis.

The fee for a PLAR assessment is $131. per course (2021-2022 academic year, subject to change). This fee is non-refundable even if the PLAR assessment is not successful. Not all courses are eligible for PLAR. Check the official course outline for eligibility.

Method of Payment: Pay at your BANK This includes telephone and online banking or in person at your branch. The payee is "Georgian College TUITION" and your account number is your nine-digit student number.

PLAR assessments will vary depending on the program. Most PLAR assessments take approximately two-five weeks to complete.

Note: It is your responsibility to withdraw from courses that you received a transfer credit/PLAR for. Failure to do so may result in a failing grade or additional fees charged to your account.

Self assessment steps

- √ Identify courses you feel you have the required knowledge and review the learning outcomes listed for these courses.
- √ In order for your abilities to be considered for PLAR, the skill(s) must be relatable to the credit you wish to receive a PLAR for. You must prove you have obtained sufficient knowledge and skill(s). As a first step, match your competence level to the appropriate statement below:
 1. I am able to demonstrate the skill well enough to teach to someone else; PLAR is applicable.
 2. I can work independently to apply the skill; PLAR is applicable.
 3. I need some assistance with using this skill(s); PLAR may be applicable.
 4. I am developing knowledge in this area; PLAR not applicable.
 5. I have little or no knowledge in this area; PLAR not applicable.
- √ Be able to provide appropriate credentials and/or proof of previous training, workshops, on-the-job, volunteer experience, and work experience. The program coordinator or academic designate will use this information to determine your eligibility for PLAR.
- √ The steps above have determined your eligibility. If you feel your knowledge will meet the requirements for PLAR, then:
 - Pay the required fee for each PLAR you want assessed.
 - Submit the request form to the Credit Transfer team by email, fax, or in person.
 - Wait for faculty to contact you for details on the evaluation method and the assessment time.
